

JANE CHURCHILL

2026 COLLECTION

2026 Collection

This season, Jane Churchill presents a collection built on global craft and modern ease, bringing together decorative embroidery, artisan-inspired stripes, ikat-influenced prints, high-performance weaves and versatile plains within one joyfully coordinated range. Warmth and worldly influence run through the designs, from kilim geometry to hand-guided embroidery, unified by an earthy, harmonious palette throughout.

Carina decoratives burst with character, its embroidered and printed designs drawing on influences as varied as kilim-inspired geometry, archival prints and figurative storytelling. Artisan techniques, from hand-guided stitchwork to cut-tuft embellishment, run playfully throughout, forming diamond repeats, linear trails and scattered motifs that feel both decorative and relaxed, giving each piece its own crafted personality.

Bringing a hand-woven spirit to the range, Barros Stripe pairs bold decorative stripes with a practical group of finer pinstripes and tickings, all drawing on the rich, earthy warmth of kilim and ikat tradition. Subtle variations in yarn and structure add further depth, from finely detailed stripes to more robust, tactile textures.

Proving that style and durability go hand in hand, the Rex collection delivers exceptional indoor/outdoor performance, fade-resistant, bleach-cleanable and weather-ready, without sacrificing softness of handle or refinement of texture, spanning textured plains, ticking stripes and fashion-inspired weaves.

Drawing on the beauty and symbolism of Indian ikat textiles, the Odele prints offer a varied family of patterns, from archival charm to geometric rhythm, with a hand-rendered softness, gently blurred edges and organic movement throughout.

The Tia mixed-weave book adds a versatile, tactile group of weaves, where space-dyed yarns and layered colour bring depth and warmth to every design, moving easily between quiet geometric charm, playful small-scale character and softer, relaxed texture.

Emile lends a touch of luxury in plush, matt velvet, while Petrus anchors the range with a richly textured plain in an expansive, coordinating palette.

Together, these collections offer a richly varied story of pattern, texture and performance, ready to be mixed, layered and coordinated for interiors with real character.

Carina

Decorative Prints and Embroideries

A joyful celebration of pattern and craft, the Carina collection captures the spirited charm that defines Jane Churchill. Rich in colour and full of detail, these fabrics bring together an eclectic mix of prints and embroidery, each one rich in artisan character.

This wide-ranging collection draws on a global palette of influences, from the abstract shapes of antique kilims and Suzani textiles to softer, more romantic botanicals and archival scenics, bringing a well-travelled elegance into contemporary interiors.

Intricate craftsmanship runs throughout, with hand embroidery, fringed cutwork and block print effects lending each design its own quiet individuality. These artisanal touches create a collected look that has become a signature style.

Whether for home decorators or interior designers, the collection offers a versatile and inspiring range of fabrics that add depth, personality and warmth to any room.

- Kilim-inspired shapes (Cinnabar) and archival prints (Maris, Nori)
- Classic embroidered charm (Hazelwood) and signature scenic prints (Hestia, Ashima)
- Coordinated pattern and colour for easy mixing
- Colour stories from rich, earthy tones to fashionable brights
- Artisan production techniques for individual, layered character

CINNABAR

Decorative Embroidery

Bold geometry and rich colour combine in this showstopping design, drawing its inspiration from the abstract motifs of antique kilim rugs. Geometric forms are embroidered in matt yarn onto a generously scaled, richly coloured textured stripe. The result is a striking play of pattern on pattern, its unexpected colour combinations lending a distinctly modern, characterful edge.

- Statement decorative
- Distinctive kilim influence

Odele

Decorative Prints

Colour and craftsmanship are the driving force behind this fun, spirited collection, which takes its inspiration from the artistry of traditional ikat weaving, where fine hand-dyed threads are woven into striking, feathered motifs. Curved medallions, flame shapes and geometric bands sit alongside softly blurred stripes, each design carrying its own quiet story rooted in tradition.

The gently irregular edges and rich layering of tone give every piece a warmth and individuality that no two lengths quite share. It's this handmade quality that gives the collection its lasting appeal, at once earthy and refined.

Offered in shades from deep indigo to warm sienna, Odele brings together heritage and modernity in equal measure, a versatile addition for those drawn to pattern with real depth and character.

- Print collection inspired by Indian ikat textiles
- Understated patterns in accessible colourways
- Coordinates with signature designs, wovens or plains
- Robust, dual-purpose cloth with a sumptuously soft handle
- Suitable for upholstery and drapery

ODELE

Decorative Print

A full-coverage design with a balanced composition, Odele's distinct motifs draw influence from historical ikat weaving. The flame motifs are rooted in cultural symbolism, thought to represent the eternal spark of life, while gently feathered edges nod to traditional hand resist-dyeing techniques. Pops of contrasting colour highlight the figurative motifs throughout.

- Offered with a coloured ground and cream pattern, or reversed with a cream ground and coloured pattern.

Rex

Indoor/Outdoor Performance Weaves

Following last year's successful debut performance collection, Jane Churchill returns with a new indoor-outdoor range that builds on the brand's talent for hard-wearing, designed fabrics.

The range introduces looser interpretations of weaves and stripes, alongside a selection of versatile plains, all with relaxed pattern and composition, in a carefully considered palette of earthy tones.

Proving that comfort and durability go hand in hand, this high-performance range combines a soft hand-feel and linen-like appearance with remarkable technical credentials, an elegant simplicity suited to every season, indoors and out.

- Highly durable for upholstery
- Bleach cleanable
- Fade resistant even under intense UV exposure
- Water repellent finish

FINN STRIPE

Performance Weave

A richly textured, irregular stripe featuring tonal shades across natural coloured grounds. Subtle hints of herringbone and structure lend further variation and tactile depth, while a soft hand-feel belies its robust, technical credentials. Finn Stripe combines style and practicality, meeting the highest performance specifications for both outdoor and high-traffic indoor use.

- Highly durable for upholstery
- Bleach cleanable
- Fade resistant under intense UV exposure
- Water repellent finish
- Washable
- Dry cleanable
